KENTUCKIANS, TO ARMS!
 The loyal and stirring Proclamation of our Governor sounds a trumpet-call "To Arms!" He vividly recites the aggressions which have been heaped upon the State, and implores you by the glorious memories of the past and the hopes of the future to rally in your strength and back the insolent invader. There is no time for formal organization. Our city is designated as one of the mustering places, and no time must be lost. The loyal must rally and the disloyal must be restrained from holding communication or giving aid and comfort to the foe. Governor Robinson tells us that the hastily recruited levies of our own and sister States have suffered a repulse which we trust is but temporary, but it will be an eternal disgrace to suffer this rebel menace to be long continued. Kentuckians must rally for the defense of their homes, with weapons or without them. If you have not arms, you must occupy the mountain defiles and passes and prepare to hold rocks upon them. Your wives and children and your hearthstones are imperiled, and to protect them you must, if necessary, confront the foe with bare breasts and impute yourselves upon their murder-spoiled bayonets. It is no time for hesitation; hesitation is the basest recreancy and Kentuckians cannot be cowards. The issue is plain one; we must either conquer our invaders or they will conquer us; we must be not only prepared but zealous to spend our last dollar and sacrifice our last drop of blood to blot from the escutcheon of our Commonwealth the disgraceful stain of invasion. Read the Governor's Proclamation and Gen. Finley's orders, muster your company in every neighborhood and report to Headquarters at Frankfort the names of your officers and your number.

PROCLAMATION OF GOV. ROBINSON.

TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY.

A crisis has arisen in the history of the Commonwealth which demands of every loyal citizen of Kentucky prompt and efficient action. The State has been invaded by an insupportable foe, her honor insulted, her peace disturbed, and her integrity imperiled. The small but gallant army raised upon the emergency of the occasion for her defense under the brave and chivalric Nelson has met with a temporary reverse, and the enemy is advancing to the accomplishment of his purpose—the subjugation of the State. He has met and driven from our borders, and it is in your power to do so.

I, therefore, as the Governor of the Commonwealth, deem it my duty to call upon every loyal citizen of Kentucky to rally to the defense of the State. Not a moment is to be lost. I appeal to you as Kentuckians, as worthy sons of the State, to rise in the majesty of your strength, and drive the insolent invaders of your soil from your midst. Now is the time for Kentuckians to defend themselves. Each man must constitute himself a soldier, arm himself as he can, and meet the foe at every step of his advance.

The day and the hour, the safety of your homes and families, patriotism and duty all demand that you rush to the rescue. I call upon the people, then, to rise up as one man, and strike a blow for the defense of their native land, their property, and their homes. Rally to the standard wherever it may be nearest, place yourselves under the commanders, obey orders, trust to your own right arms and to the God of Battles, and the foe will be driven back discomfited and annihilated. To arms to arms and never lay them down till the Standard Star is planted in the hands of Kentucky, but perform my duty in thus summoning you to the defense of your State, and I am assured that it will be promptly responded to. I promise that I will share with you the glory of the victory which surely awaits you.

Done in the city of Frankfort the 31st day of August, 1862.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

FRANKFORT, August 31, 1862.

General Order No. 32.

It is hereby ordered, First—that the following points are fixed as the rendezvous of all companies of Home Guards and citizens who shall respond to the call of the Governor, made by proclamation of this date, viz: Paris, Louisville, Manchester, Bowling Green, and Paducah.

Second—As rapidly as companies are formed they will report to these headquarters the number of men in such company, the company commanders, and at which of the above-mentioned points they will rendezvous.

By order of the Governor,

JOHN W. FINNELL,

Adjutant-General Kentucky Volunteers.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,

FRANKFORT, August 31, 1862.

General Order No. 26.

No telegraph operator will be permitted to volunteer in the militia of the State, and commanders of Home Guards are instructed not to receive them into their corps.

By order of the Governor,

JOHN W. FINNELL,

Adjutant-General Kentucky Volunteers.

THE LOUISVILLE CHANCERY COURT.

This tribunal will be reorganized to-day, the newly elected officers entering upon the discharge of their duties. The court will be officiated as follows: Henry Pirtle, Chancellor; Harry Stucky, Clerk, and Thomas A. Morgan, Marshal. As one of the chief requisites of a jurist is promptness, Judge Pirtle possesses a high qualification, as it is said of him that he has never been known to fall three minutes behind an engagement.

BRENNAN & SONS.—We regret to learn that the wife and little son of our estimable fellow-citizen, Mr. Robert Snyder, of the Tenth Ward, were bitten by a copperhead while on a visit to a relative, near Middletown, on Friday. Remedial agents were at once administered, and it is hoped that the patients will not suffer serious injury.

THE OFFICERS chosen at the general election on Monday will be qualified to-day and enter upon the discharge of their duties at once.

One company of the Fifty-fifth Indiana Infantry, under command of Lehman, passed through the city last evening.

James W. Wood was released from the military prison yesterday.

Iron and nails have materially advanced in price in this market.

PUBLIC MEETING.

LOUISVILLE TO THE RESCUE.

RALLY! RALLY! RALLY!

The exigencies of the times require prompt action. The foe is at our very doors, and we are unprepared. A public meeting is therefore called at eleven o'clock to-day, in front of the Court House, where all persons who have arms will report the number. There have been a large number of weapons distributed to the Home Guards and other loyal men heretofore, and it is necessary that every one should report what he retains. As lists have been kept of the persons to whom the distribution was made, there might be a quiet requisition for them, but this is the most prompt way of getting them together. Let every man who possesses a gun attend this meeting, and let the loyal men who are unarmed attend, that a general distribution may be made.

THE POSITION IN KENTUCKY.—It is idle to deny that danger is imminent to Kentucky.

On Friday the undisciplined troops who were on the line towards Cumberland Gap met the enemy and drove them back several miles. On Saturday the rebels were largely reinforced and our raw levies could not resist their impetuous advance. A line of battle was formed early in the day, and they resisted gallantly until overpowered by superior numbers at two o'clock. They then retired and re-formed in battle array at half-past two, but unfortunately, at an early period this, their General Nelson was shot in the groin and compelled to flee the field, and great disaster ensued. Our forces fell back with a loss of 1,000 to 1,500 men, and about two hundred and fifty wounded. Colonel Warner, of the Eighteenth Kentucky, and Colonel Toppin, of the Seventy-first Indiana, were killed. The rebels have passed the Kentucky river, and we learn that our only battery of six guns was captured by a force of about eighteen hundred under General Churchill. Our forces were routed by the rebels to the extent of seven thousand, and every man fought gallantly until compelled to retire before overwhelming numbers.

Fears are naturally entertained for the safety of Lexington, but we do not despair of an effective resistance in defense of that city. We are not prepared to believe that the efficient means of resistance we have, but we have grounds to hope that the rebels have prosecuted their raid upon our territory to the extent of their ability. They certainly must be supplied with provision and forage, and it seems impossible that they can be able to sustain an army in a country which has been so recently ravaged.

By telegraph from Cincinnati we learn that on Friday our cavalry were driven in, when Gen. Manson, with the 69th and 71st Indiana, moved up and compelled the enemy to retreat under a fire of shells. They retreated beyond Rogersville, leaving one gun behind, and the forces of the State were reinforced by four guns, and coming up with the enemy an artillery fight began with heavy loss on both sides. The enemy attempted to turn our right flank, and sharp skirmishing occurred. The 69th Indiana advanced through a dense fire of shot and shell to the relief of the skirmishers, and the rebels were driven back, the shells finally turned left flank and advanced in full force on our column. A retreat was then ordered, and our troops fell back three miles, and re-formed on high hills, with artillery in position on the right and left flanks. The cannonading recommenced and was kept up briskly for some time on both sides. After four hours of desperate fighting, the enemy on our right flank, under cover of dense woods, succeeded in turning it. A retreat immediately commenced to the original camping ground, and after great efforts, Gen. Nelson succeeded in rallying the men and forming another line of battle. By this time our ammunition was nearly exhausted, and some guns had been captured, and the work then, all having been killed or wounded.

Gen. Nelson's wound was in the groin by a musket ball, which was extracted, and we learn that it will not prove dangerous, as we hope that no principal arteries were touched.

He was conveyed to Cincinnati, and has the services of the best medical skill at his disposal. The forces engaged on our side were the Ninety-sixth, Ninety-ninth, and Seventy-first Indiana, with Munford's and Metcalf's cavalry.

Major Kunkle, of the Seventy-first Indiana, was killed. Col. Wright left the camp and advanced to the left, and the 69th Indiana was driven back discomfited and annihilated. To arms to arms and never lay them down till the Standard Star is planted in the hands of Kentucky, but perform my duty in thus summoning you to the defense of your State, and I am assured that it will be promptly responded to. I promise that I will share with you the glory of the victory which surely awaits you.

NOTICES OF THE DAY.

CADWELL INSTITUTE FOR YOUNG LADIES.

This excellent institution will begin its next session on Monday, the first of September. Some of the best educational facilities for young ladies can be secured for the next session, and the prospects of the school are very flattering. Address the principal, A. E. Sloan, Danville, Kentucky.

A valuable family of negroes, of all ages, will be sold by the Marshal of the Chancery Court this morning at the court-house door, between the hours of eleven and twelve.
